Child Custody Tools for Co-Parenting

When a marriage or other relationship comes to an end, it's not easy. If you have children together, issues can arise. Children rely on their parents to make sure that everything is taken care of. In some cases, communication between parents may be difficult. The OurFamilyWizard® website was originally designed to reduce some, if not all, of the stress from communication and planning between parents who live in separate households, but now nearly any family could benefit from it. Visit their website @ <http://www.ourfamilywizard.com> for further details.
